
Project and Program Management

Mieloo & Alexander Business Integrators

Mieloo & Alexander Business Integrators is a consulting firm specialising in technology enabled business improvement. We successfully design, plan and implement solutions and transform your organisation to achieve sustainable competitive advantage.

We have years of experience, in-depth knowledge of your business and technology and a true hands-on, get it done mentality that has resulted in strong and lasting client relationships.

The professionals working out of our Rotterdam office on projects across Europe deliver outstanding client service, measurable results and satisfied customers.

Project and Program Management

At Mieloo & Alexander we specialise in managing and delivering complex, large-scale technology driven or related change projects within time and budget, taking responsibility for and committing ourselves to the quantitative and qualitative end result.

We excel at quickly understanding your organisation and identifying the business issues you face. This allows us to design fitting solutions and devise a project or program plan that is both realistic in its ambitions and responsible in how it manages the risks involved.

Depending on the organisational dynamics, we can realise these goals in a low-profile way or assume strong, visible leadership to drive home the results. Either way, we are fully committed to delivering solutions that are effective and easy to implement and adopt.

Bespoke Methods, Great People

Rather than forcing a single method onto a project, we let its reality dictate the methodological requirements. Our consultants will tailor our own project methodology to the needs of your project, but can also use or adopt other methods.

Mieloo & Alexander's own methodology combines the best from successful projects. It provides the project manager and teams with structures for project organisation, communication and reporting, as well as the tools to control critical aspects such as scope, time, resources, organisational change and risk.

It also contains a business decomposition concept and a wide range of pre-formatted template deliverables and examples of design and build documentation. As such, it is ideally suited for template/roll out programs, and will greatly improve implementation efficiency and effectiveness.

Ultimately, however, we believe that good people are the number one critical success factor of any project. That is why our experienced project and program managers bring thorough understanding of your business and knowledge of IT to each project. They are sensitive to the business and project politics, have a hands-on mentality and work in a structured and transparent way.

Long-lasting Client Relationships

Mieloo & Alexander works for a variety of multinational clients on projects across Europe. In recognition of our ability to successfully manage complex projects, we have built long-lasting relationships with companies such as Sony Deutschland, Maxxium and Akzo Nobel Car Refinishes.

For further inquiries, references or a more detailed description of our services, clients and case studies, please visit us at www.mielooandalexander.com or contact us at info@mielooandalexander.com.